Pretty Patterns in Lawn and Cambric Dresses.

Taste in Umbrellas-Use of Lace Corselets.

Simple lawn and cambric dresse have the white ground woven like drawn-work in crossbars, and are strewn with colored Greek squares or else with blossoms-blue cornflowers, pink roses or orching of pale visiet hues. These are made over a low-necked fitted lining of white lawn or cambric, with a foundation skirt of the same gathered to a deep yoke and sloped in the back seam, then trimmed with a foot of platting of the figured lawn inserted at the end of the hem or facing. The bigg lawn walst is cut as a Russian blouse of very simple shape, buttoned down the left side, or clse it has a yoke of open-pat-
